

On February 17, 2009, the American Recovery and Reinvestment Act (ARRA) was passed by Congress and signed into law by President Obama. ARRA provides increased support to several existing federal programs administered by states, creates new programs such as the State Fiscal Stabilization Fund, and offers opportunities for states to apply for competitive grant programs.

The American Recovery and Reinvestment Act's significant investment in North Carolina totaled almost $19.5 billion, including assistance for those needing help the most through increases in unemployment benefits, Medicaid payments, and food stamps. In addition to those expanded services, ARRA gives hundreds of thousands of working North Carolinians a break through tax credits like the Making Work Pay tax credit and the First Time Homebuyer's tax credit.

The Recovery Act is not like earlier attempts to revive the nation's economy. It is not only a one-time infusion of federal funds; instead it is a long-term effort to restore economic expansion in the short-term, as well as prepare the nation's economy for stable, healthy long-term growth. Under the terms of the Recovery Act, support for North Carolina's economy will include both investments made directly by the federal government and investments of federal funds that are made under the oversight of the North Carolina state government.

Education

The Recovery Act placed a special emphasis on maintaining education funding. Governor Beverly Perdue furthered this commitment by pledging additional recovery funds from the Recovery Act to education, and leading North Carolina to additional funds by winning $400 million in the Race to the Top program.

Most of the ARRA education funds are distributed to local schools through existing funding formulas. Special Education Funds and Title I funds go to schools based on eligible student enrollment. State Fiscal Stabilization Funds (SFSF) and the EduJobs grants were designed to hold schools harmless during the recession, and were distributed to public and charter schools. The school systems have spent the majority of the funds on staff and support. Some projects, such as Race to the Top, will be spent for purchasing products and services rather than salaries for staff.

Authorization for low/no interest bonds for school construction/renovation followed the Department of Public Instruction procedures with initial allotments to the school systems. If a school system could not utilize their allotment, it was released to other school systems that could utilize additional allotments.

New Hanover County schools received $62 million in education funding, including $5.5 million in Special Education funds, $4.5 million in Title I funds, $34.5 million in SFSF funds, $3 million in Race to the Top funding and a $5 million bond allocation.

Pell Grants are an educational Assistance Program that provides grants to eligible students to receive post-secondary or vocational training. Because Pell Grants are not student loans, they allow students to receive financial assistance to further education and training without incurring additional debt. The American Recovery and Reinvestment Act increased the eligibility and the maximum amount of Pell Grants in 2009 and 2010 as a way to encourage educational opportunities, and to provide a way for eligible applicants to gain new job skills.

In New Hanover County, Cape Fear Community College, the College of Wilmington, and UNCW had 6,938 students funded by Pell Grants; these grants were worth more than $9 million.

Family Assistance

The Federal Department of Agriculture increased funding to their Single-Family home program with the ARRA. These resources assisted families in achieving the American Dream of home ownership through direct financial assistance (grants) or credit (loan guarantees). This program pumped more than $729 million into North Carolina, providing assistance to more than 5,400 families.

In New Hanover County, 151 families received assistance through this program totaling more than $24.5 million.

The Department of Energy created the Energy Star Appliance rebate program to help stimulate the economy by incentivizing the purchase of new, more energy efficient appliances, and helping consumers by providing long-term savings from their utility bills. The State Energy Office in the North Carolina Department of Commerce managed the program insuring North Carolina residents and retailers received the maximum benefit from this opportunity. North Carolina retailers sold more than 25,500 new energy efficiency appliances through this program, and North Carolina residents will enjoy energy savings for years to come. The program was so successful, that the State Energy Office reprogrammed additional funding to provide discounts to everyone participating in the program, bringing the total program value from $8 up to $10 Million.

New Hanover County retailers sold 700 appliances through the Energy Star Appliance rebate program.

Small Business Assistance

The ARRA provided tax breaks, increased depreciation of business assets, and incentives for hiring for small businesses through the tax law changes found in Part B of the Act. The Recovery Act also established direct aid programs through the federal Small Business Administration (SBA) and US Department of Agriculture (USDA). These programs provided grants, loans and loan guarantees to grant small businesses access to much-needed operational credit during 2009 and 2010.

In New Hanover County, 47 small businesses received SBA loan guarantees worth $9 million. According to the small businesses receiving these loans, the Recovery Act saved or created 298 jobs.

CARS Program

The Car Allowance Rebate Program (CARS), more widely known as the 'Cash-for-Clunkers' program, provided an incentive for drivers of older, energy inefficient vehicles to upgrade to new cars. This program also provided a large economic impact in North Carolina, and North Carolina dealers received more than 18,000 trade-in vehicles through this program. North Carolina Car Dealers sold more than $400,000,000 worth of new cars (recommended MSRP) through the CARS program. North Carolina drivers will save 172,130 miles per gallon through cars purchased through this program.

In New Hanover County, car dealers sold 660 cars worth $14.5 million through the ARRA CARS program.

Justice and Public Safety Programs

ARRA increased funding to the federal Byrne Justice Assistance Grants Program (JAG). JAG funds were awarded both as a formula allocation to the State, for $34.5 million, and grants distributed by the Governor's Crime Commission to various local governments and entities. In addition, $21,853,798 went to 216 local governments across the state for various purposes in line with the requirements of the act. Finally, there is a federal competitive portion that was open to state or local government applicants.

In New Hanover County, the City of Wilmington, the City of Southport, and UNCW received JAG program grants worth more than $3 million.

The COPS (Community Oriented Policing Services) awards grants to law enforcement agencies to hire and train community policing professionals, acquire and deploy cutting-edge crime-fighting technologies, and develop and test innovative policing strategies. COPS funding also provides training and technical assistance to community members and local government leaders and all levels of law. In order to help leverage the efficiency of these programs Governor Perdue set aside additional funding to help pay for uniforms and equipment for local governments who have new COPS funded positions.

In New Hanover County, the City of Wilmington had 13 officers funded through COPS grants. These grants were worth $2 million.

Environment and Natural Resources Programs

ARRA funded several programs to protect the environment, or to develop natural resources more efficiently. These programs ranged from environmental clean-up, such as leaking underground storage tank abatement and Brownfields programs, to EPA clean air grants, wildfire prevention grants, and revolving funds to build, expand, or overhaul existing water and sewer programs. These programs provided nearly $150 million across North Carolina.

In New Hanover County, the Town of Carolina Beach, the Town of Kure Beach, the City of Southport, the Cape Fear Public Utility Authority and the Cape Fear Council of Government received water and sewer grants worth more than $7 million.

Green Energy Programs

One of the goals of ARRA was to provide grants to help conserve energy and assist in the development of a green economy. The State Energy Office in the North Carolina Department of Commerce received large grants for energy conservation under the American Recovery and Reinvestment Act. These grants include the Energy Efficiency Conservation Block Grant (EECBG), funded at just under $20 million, and the State Energy Plan (SEP), funded at $70 million. The State Energy Office then used these grants to make awards to businesses, non-profits, and local governments for various purposes.

In New Hanover County, the N.C. Ports Authority, New Hanover County received an SEP grant worth $394,250. N.C. Wilmington received an SEP grant of $553,166. Cape Fear Green Building Alliance received Green Business Fund grants worth $250,000 to offer BPI certification training to energy auditors and building analysts, and to educate consumers about energy-efficient retrofits, Home Star, demonstration of cost savings after retrofitting. South Atlantic Services received a SEP grant worth $108,711 to replace over 600 metal halide fixtures with 4-lamp and 10-lamp T5HO fluorescent lighting high bay fixtures and T8 fixtures. Carolina Windpower in Wilmington received a Green Business Fund grant worth $74,200 to install wind turbines and a third party data acquisition system at Currituck County Visitor's Center. The county's intentions are to integrate students at Currituck High School into this project. The energy generated by the wind turbine will be used to offset energy usage at the visitor's center.

Military Programs

The American Recovery and Reinvestment Act included approximately $7.4 billion in defense-related appropriations. This includes funding for all service areas and the Army Corps of Engineers. Recovery Act funding addressed some of the unique economic pressures faced by American service members because of their voluntary commitment to serve our nation. The Recovery Act included assistance to service members, upgrades aimed to improve the quality of life for troops and their families, funded three new facilities, and two new VA hospitals in North Carolina, addressing critical needs across the state. In addition to providing much needed facility improvements, this bill also provides more funding for our energy research programs, so that Department of Defense (DOD) can continue to lead the way in the national effort to achieve greater energy independence. North Carolina had 103 military projects funded for a total of $166 million.

In New Hanover County, the Army Corps of Engineers contracted for more than $5.5 million for improvements on the Cape Fear River.

Safety Net Programs

Safety net programs are the category of ARRA funding that consists of programs designed to help populations made particularly vulnerable by the economic crisis. These generally include increases in existing programs, most notably the increase in both benefit level and duration of unemployment payments. Increases in the amount and duration of unemployment payments makes up the largest chunk of safety net programs funded through the Recovery Act, totaling more than $3.5 billion statewide over more than two years. Safety net programs such as unemployment insurance and SNAP (formerly known as Food Stamps), not only benefit the recipient, but have a proven economic impact on a community.

New Hanover County residents received $66 million in Unemployment Insurance increases during the 2 ½ year ARRA benefits increase. County residents also received $9 million in SNAP benefit increases, and $9 million in one-time payments of $250 to social security recipients.

New Hanover County received more than $130,000 for Head Start Programs.

New Hanover County Feature Story

UNC Wilmington Builds State-of-the-art Research Facility with Recovery Funds

The National Institute of Standards and Technology is a non-regulatory federal agency within the federal Department of Commerce. NIST was founded in 1901 as the nation's first federal physical science research laboratory. NIST's mission is to promote U.S. innovation and industrial competitiveness by advancing measurement science, standards, and technology in ways that enhance economic security and improve our quality of life.

The American Recovery and Reinvestment Act awarded NIST a total of $610 million. More than $15 million in grants and contracts were awarded in North Carolina by NIST. By far the largest North Carolina award from NIST was $14,980,000 for the construction of the planned new Marine Biotechnology in North Carolina (MARBIONC) facility at the University of North Carolina Wilmington's (UNCW) Center for Marine Sciences.

NIST partnered with the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration (NOAA) and UNCW to help fund the long-planned state-of-the-art, research-to-product building for MARBIONC.

The MARBIONC program focuses on the application of marine biotechnology to food, health, and energy. Research areas include drug discovery based on compounds from marine organisms, detection technologies for both human-origin marine pollutants and biotoxins from microorganisms, algae farming for biofuels, and mariculture (marine aquaculture). The global biotechnology market has a value of $226 billion, and it continues to expand. Ten percent of the market includes various areas of marine biotechnology, which has grown tremendously in the last decade. The program's economic development mission includes workforce development, and it offers a unique "business of marine biotechnology" postdoctoral training program to allow marine scientists to combine laboratory training with study toward a master's degree in business administration.

The long-planned new facility will house MARBIONC in about half of the new 66,600 square foot 2-story facility. The other half of the new facility will include 12 labs, three large incubator laboratories for cultured research organisms, offices and other spaces for holding meetings and housing materials. These facilities will be available for lease to private sector industry, fueling biotechnology research, and job creation in North Carolina. "From an economic development perspective, we've been seeking to consolidate North Carolina's marine biotechnology under a single roof, and this MARBIONC facility brings us one step closer to that reality," said Jeffrey Wright, a director for research at MARBIONC.

The $15 million grant from NIST is estimated to cover half the construction cost of the new R&D facility. Land for the facility was previously acquired by the University in anticipation of the project. Contract bidding was completed in early July of 2011. Construction on MARBIONC facility began in September 2011.
